

AUGUST 19, 2019

World Calligraphy Day

World Calligraphy Day began in 2017 and has since been celebrated every August 14th. Presented by Manuscript Pen Company, the holiday aims to utilize the visual power of the written art form and spread positivity through beautiful, creative hand lettering.

For two years now, Manuscript Pen Company has partnered with Birmingham Children's Hospital on their #SaySomethingSpecial campaign. The movement encourages calligraphers (of all skill levels, from all around the world) to submit a note or illustration for a child at the hospital. In addition to forwarding these letters to the hospital, Manuscript Pen Company will send some products for the hospital to use for their art classes and play sessions!

How to Celebrate

World Calligraphy Day is returning on August 14th! Don't forget to celebrate calligraphy as an art form and all of its rich history.

SAY SOMETHING SPECIAL

Manuscript Pen Company encourages you to participate in the #SaySomethingSpecial campaign and send a note showing off your hand-lettering skills. This is a fun, unique way to exercise your artistic flare, and it's guaranteed to make someone smile!

ATTEND AN EVENT

In addition, you can attend events on the 14th of August both in Birmingham, Alabama and in Singapore. Join professional illustrators and calligraphers to gain tips for your hand-lettering, view beautiful artwork, and practice your skills!

GET SOCIAL

Finally, keep an eye out from @ManuscriptPenCo across social media for contests, showcases, and interactive content. Don't forget to post your work with the hashtag #WorldCalligraphyDay, and feel free to discover work from other talented individuals.

For more information, please visit the official World Calligraphy Day page here.

Happy World Calligraphy Day, and keep on creating!